Getting To Know Hamilton

The City of Hamilton is made up of a number of smaller communities. These include Dundas, Ancaster, Stoney Creek, Flamborough and Glanbrook.

Some Hamilton streets say “North”, “South”, “East” or “West,” after their name. For example Streets that cross King Street are labeled either “North” or “South,” depending on the side of King Street they are on (e.g. Wentworth Street North is north of King Street).

Streets that cross James Street are labeled “East” or “West,” (e.g. Main Street West is west of James Street).

The Niagara Escarpment runs through Hamilton. It is known as “the Hamilton Mountain,” or “the Mountain”. Many main streets on the Mountain have the same name as the streets of lower Hamilton. We use the word “Upper” before the street name (e.g. Upper James) if it is on the Mountain.

Hamilton has many different neighbourhoods. Each area has
- services
- programs
- schools
- public libraries
- recreation centres
- grocery stores

Types of Housing

Rental Housing

There are different types of rental housing in Hamilton. Rent is paid monthly. Your first and last month’s rent is paid when you start your rental or lease agreement. Payment of last month’s rent may be negotiated with some landlords.

Co-operative (Co-op) Housing – member controlled housing

The members who live in a co-op

- are the ones responsible for running the co-op
- have a vote
- elect a Board of each year from the membership

Some co-op households

- pay a lower monthly rent (housing charge) geared to their income - government funds cover the difference between this payment and the co-op’s full charge
- pay the full monthly charge based on cost

For more information about co-operative housing in this area, please

- go to www.ghchf.ca or
- contact The Golden Horseshoe Co-operative Housing Federation (GH-CHF)
  - call 905-561-2667
  - email ghchf@primus.ca
Market Rent
Most market rental housing in Hamilton is owned by private landlords. Most of these units are not rent subsidized. Units in social housing or co-op housing can also be rented at market rent. Market rent in Hamilton is cheaper compared to communities such as Toronto, but it is increasing.

Subsidized Housing
Subsidized housing is sometimes called social housing or public housing. This means that the rent is set based on your income.
To get subsidized housing you must
1. fill out an application – to get help doing your application contact the Housing Help Centre (see page 3 or 38)
2. qualify
3. be put on the waiting list

You must to fill out 2 forms
1. an application form
2. a building selection form to say which buildings you are applying for Contact Access to Housing to apply for housing subsidy.

499 King Street East, Hamilton, ON L8E 1E1
Phone 905-524-2228 Fax 905-524-1199
http://www.hamilton.ca/HealthandSocialServices/SocialServices/Housing/HowToApplyLowCost.htm
Who Can Apply for Subsidized Housing?

To qualify for subsidized housing:

1. Your household (family) income must be below a certain level. The level depends on the number of people in your family.

2. You must provide proof of status (with your application) for each person in your home. All members of the household must be a
   - Canadian citizen, or
   - permanent resident, or
   - applying for permanent resident status, or
   - refugee or a refugee claimant

3. You must provide proof of age with your application. You can use a copy of a birth certificate or passport. At least one person in your home must at least 16 years old and able to live on their own (independently).

4. If you or anyone in your home owes rent to any social housing provider in Ontario you will need to
   - have an agreement to pay the rent owing
   - show the agreement to Access to Housing before they can process your application
5. Your application will be rejected if within the last 2 years you or any person in your home has been convicted of

   • an offence related to rent-geared-to-income housing under the Residential Tenancies Act (RTA) – either in court or at the Landlord and Tenant Board

   • a crime under the Criminal Code

6. If you get housing, you can’t own property anywhere. You must agree in writing to sell it within 1 year of being housed.

How Long Will I Have to Wait for Subsidized Housing?

After your application is finished and if you qualify, you will be added to a waiting list. This waiting list is based on the date you applied for housing. There are a very limited number of housing units. How long you wait depends on how often tenants move out. Someone has to move out for someone else to move in.

In Hamilton there are rules that give priority to certain types of applicants. This means that some people may get a home sooner than others.

See https://www.hamilton.ca/social-services/housing/priority-applications for details.

If you have a special status you will need to • fill out a form

• have proper documents
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Status Type</th>
<th>Description</th>
</tr>
</thead>
</table>
| Special priority | Victims of abuse by someone they |               |   - live with now, or
|               |   - have lived with in the past 6 months |
| Urgent       | Victims of abuse by someone they have |             |   - never lived with, or
|             |   - did live with more than 6 months ago |
| Terminally ill | someone who is terminally ill |
| Homeless     | someone living in temporary setting - this could be living with friends or family, in a shelter, hostel or motel |
| Newcomer     | refugees, refugee claimants or landed immigrants |
| Youth        | those who are 16 or 17 years old |

When choosing buildings to live in (on the selection form) remember that the

- more buildings you choose, the shorter time you will likely have to wait
- fewer buildings you choose or if you have very specific choices, the longer the wait

People needing certain types of housing, such as a home with 3 or more bedrooms, often have to wait longer. There are fewer of these types of units. The wait can be years depending on your situation.
The Next Step In Your Housing Search: Viewing Units & Meeting Landlords

These tips can help with the next step of your housing search.

Renting an Apartment in the Private Market

Seeing Rental Units

When looking at potential places to rent

- look at the unit and the building thoroughly
- look for signs of pests like bed bugs or cockroaches
- take notes
- use the tool in this guide (pages 33 - 37)

Information Asked for by Private Market Landlords

When renting, you will have to fill out an application provided by the landlord. There is information you will have to give.

You will be asked for

- names and telephone numbers of people who can give you a good reference - these people could be friends and relatives or your supervisor at work
- names of your previous landlords and other addresses where you rented

Landlords often check this information, so be sure that it is right.
If the landlord does a credit check, they will need your identification. This is to make sure they have the right person. This information would include your Social Insurance Number (S.I.N.). If you are asked for your S.I.N. ask your landlord what it is for.

Other things you should know.

a. A landlord
   - can ask about your rental history and credit references
   - may ask to do a credit check
   Don’t worry if you don’t have a rental or credit history. This shouldn’t count against you.

b. A landlord can ask you about your income, but not by itself. They must also look at your
   - rental history
   - credit references
   - credit rating

c. Your income can only be
   - looked at on its own if there is no other information available
   - used to make sure you have enough money to pay the rent
d. A landlord shouldn’t refuse to rent to you because
   • they don’t think your income is high enough
   • you get social assistance (Ontario Works or Ontario Disability Support Program)

e. Landlords can ask for a “guarantor” to sign the lease. They can only do this if they ask all applicants. A guarantor is someone who promises to pay your rent if you can’t. Landlords can’t ask for a “guarantor” just for you. They must ask everyone else who applies for a unit.

What is a Deposit?

When you are ready to rent a unit, the landlord may ask for a deposit. A deposit is money (cash or cheque) you give to the landlord to hold the unit. Holding a unit means that no one else can rent it. This gives you time to fill out the rental application.

Once you agree to rent the unit, your deposit is put towards your rent. Getting a deposit back can be very difficult. Be sure you want the unit before giving a deposit. You should get legal advice if this becomes a problem. (See the list of Community Connections under Legal Help on page 38.)

Some landlords also ask for a “key deposit”. This is to cover costs in case your key is lost or stolen. A landlord shouldn’t ask for more than about $75.00 for a key deposit.
When giving a deposit

- only give the landlord money if you want the unit
- make sure you get a receipt from the landlord for the deposit
- read the receipt - it should say the amount of the deposit, what the money was for and the date

Signing a Lease

When you rent a place to live, you make a legal agreement with the landlord. The agreement is often a written contract, called a “lease”. You and the landlord will sign the lease. When signing the lease be sure you

- understand everything it says - bring someone to help you read it, or call the Hamilton Community Legal Clinic
- get a copy of the lease
- get the landlord’s address, phone number and full name

The lease will say

- you have agreed to rent a specific place
- you must pay a certain amount of rent on a certain date – may be monthly or weekly
- the length you will rent the unit for – most leases are for 1 year unless the landlord lets you out of the lease
- the rental agreement after the year is done - you may be able to rent month to month or renew your lease for another year
- the appliances in the unit
- if utilities and services are included in the rent – water, gas, electricity (hydro)
- if you pay for utilities and services
Renting Subsidized Housing

If you are offered a subsidized unit, you will have 3 days to see it and decide if you want it. You may refuse to take units, but only up to 3 times. After the third time you will be taken off the wait list. You would then have to reapply if you still want subsidized housing.

If you accept a subsidized unit and are renting, you

- must give written notice to your landlord that you will be leaving in 60 days
- should ask your landlord if you can sublet the unit if you must move before your lease is over
  - subletting is finding someone to take over the lease on your behalf, until the end of the lease

Note: If you are allowed to sublet, your landlord will want to check their credit.
You are Now a Tenant. What Does this Mean?

Once you have rented a place to live and signed a lease, you are a tenant. You have rights and responsibilities and so does your landlord. Most of the rules about your relationship with your landlord are in the Residential Tenancies Act. Some rental situations aren’t covered by the Act. These include if you

- share the rental unit with the owner of the building or a member of their family
- pay rent to another tenant
- live in a housing co-op

Your landlord must give you written information about their rights and responsibilities. If you rent a unit, ask for this information and read it. You can also learn about the rules of the Residential Tenancies Act online at http://www.ltb.gov.on.ca/en/Key_Information/STEL02_111677.html

If you aren't sure about your rights, call the Housing Help Centre or the Hamilton Community Legal Clinic. These are listed in the ‘Community Connections’ section on page 38. The Landlord and Tenant Board also has a number of brochures about being a tenant or a landlord.

Paying Rent

When you rent, you pay money to your landlord. Paying rent allows you to live in the unit you rented. You will pay on the day you agreed to in the lease. This could be the first of the month, but not always, so check your lease. If you don’t pay on the required day, your rent is overdue the next day.
You are to pay your rent when you move in, and it may include first and last month’s rent.

Your landlord
• can’t ask you to pay last month’s rent if he didn’t ask for it before you moved in
• must use any money you have already paid him (if you gave more than your first month’s rent) for your last month’s rent
• can only ask for up to 1 additional month’s rent before you move in • may allow you to make payments over time towards your last month’s rent – ask them

Types of Payment for Rent
You may pay your rent by
• electronic transfer
• automatic debit
• cash
• cheque
• money order
• bank draft
If you aren't paying electronically get a receipt. It should show

- your address
- the amount paid
- the time period for which you are paying
- who received the payment

Never pay cash unless a receipt is given to you when you pay.

A landlord can’t ask for post-dated cheques. A post-dated cheque is dated for some time in the future. These cheques can’t be cashed until the date that is written on them. You may choose to pay this way to make it easier, but there are risks. If you don’t give post-dated cheques, your landlord will be in contact often. This will allow you to ask questions, point out repairs needed and make suggestions.

Setting Up Utilities, Cable Television Service and Internet Service

Sometimes utilities are included in your rent. For some rental units you will have to set up and pay your own utilities such as

- water
- gas
- electricity (hydro)
In most cases you will have to pay for
- television - cable, satellite
- internet services
- phone

If you will be paying utilities, set up your services as soon as you rent the unit. Usually only 1 company has service in your area.

If you want service you will need to contact that company.

Moving In

Congratulations! You have rented an apartment and are ready to move in.

You may need to rent a truck to move your belongings. You can rent one from
- a local car rental business such as Discount, Budget, and Enterprise
- U-Haul which only rents trucks or trailers
- the Community CarShare (need to be a member) to rent cars or small trucks for short periods of time

If you buy or are given second-hand furniture check it all very closely for signs of bed bugs! Check in all of the cracks, crevices and fabric. Never pick up furniture that has been left near the street. The chances are high that it will contain bed bugs and they will infest your new home.
You can find furniture and household items at reasonable prices at non-profit thrift stores such as

Check out local garage sales. Look for signs on weekends. Check carefully for bedbugs!
Repairs

Landlords must keep units in good repair and meet all health, safety and property standards. Make sure the landlord has installed a working smoke detector in your unit. It should be tested often and the battery replaced. Don’t disconnect it or take the battery out of the smoke detector! If there are any gas appliances in your unit you should also have a carbon monoxide detector. You must keep the unit clean and pay for any damage caused by you or any of your visitors.

Services can only be turned off for short periods of time. This might happen to do repairs. Landlords must give you 24 hour notice before turning off services. The rest of the time services must be working. These services are

- heat (from September 1st to June 15th)
- electricity
- fuel (such as natural gas or oil)
- hot or cold water

Bed Bugs, Cockroaches and Mice – Who is Responsible?

It is important to ask questions about bed bugs and other pests when you first look at a unit.

According to the Residential Tenancies Act, landlords must maintain the rental property. This includes eliminating pest infestations. This is supported by a Hamilton by-law.
If You Have Pests or Maintenance Issues

Contact the Housing Help Centre for information about dealing with pests (905-526-8100 ext. 209, see page 38)

Things to know about pest control.

- a. Your landlord must hire a pest control company if you have bed bugs or other pests.
- b. If your landlord doesn't deal with the pests, contact the City of Hamilton Public Health Department (905-546-3570, see page 38). Ask them to do an inspection.
- c. Prepare for the spraying of pests. If you don’t prepare, the spray will not kill the pests.
- d. If you aren’t able to prepare for the spraying, ask for help from your landlord. If your landlord doesn’t give help, contact the Housing Help Centre.
- e. Consider giving your landlord a copy of the Hamilton Bed Bug Guidelines.

For any concerns you have about pests contact City of Hamilton Public Health Department 905-546-3570

Things to know about maintenance or repairs.

- a. If your unit needs repairs give a written notice to your landlord. Explain what needs to be repaired and date it. Keep a copy for yourself.
- b. If your landlord doesn't do the repairs contact the Housing Help Centre.

For any concerns you have about repairs contact

- Housing Help Centre 905-526-8100 ext. 209

Eviction

The Residential Tenancies Act allows a landlord to evict you for a number of reasons. If you are evicted it means you must move out of your unit. You may be evicted if you

- don’t pay your rent or often pay your rent late
- damage the unit or are doing something illegal in your unit or on the building’s premises
- make too much noise or disturb other tenants or the landlord
- affect the safety of other tenants
- have too many people in the unit

The landlord can evict you if they want to use the unit for themselves or their family.

Talk to your landlord or property manager if you’re going to be late paying rent. The sooner you talk to them, the better. The landlord may allow you to pay your rent late if they know

- why it is late
- when it will be paid
- if it is a one-time late payment

If you can’t pay the rent call the Housing Help Centre.

There are steps the landlord must follow before they evict you. These steps are found in the Residential Tenancies Act.
Before you are evicted the landlord must give you written notice of the complaint.

If you get a notice of complaint
- do your best to fix the issue
- talk to the landlord or property manager about the problem

If you get a notice of eviction call the Hamilton Community Legal Clinic at 905-527-4572 (see page 38).
A notice of eviction doesn’t mean that you have to leave your until. There may be a way to stop the eviction.

If you are evicted contact the Housing Help Centre for help in finding a new apartment.

Getting Along with Neighbours
A good living environment includes getting along with your neighbours. You should
- try not to disturb your neighbours
- follow rules
- keep your unit clean
- keep control of pets and their waste
- let your landlord know if you see any pests
- tell your neighbours if you have an issue that could affect them
If a neighbour is doing something that bothers you, talk to them to see if they can fix it. If they don't fix the problem, then speak to your landlord or property manager.

If there is still an issue put your complaint in writing
- then give it to your landlord
- and keep a copy for yourself

Leaving your Rental Home

You must pay rent for the length of your lease. You may leave earlier if your landlord agrees to end the lease early.

You must give 60 days notice in writing, if you plan to move at the end of your lease. Once the lease ends, you can
- sign a new lease, or
- pay month to month, or
- pay weekly

If you don’t sign a new lease you can leave anytime as long as you give 60 days notice (in writing).

Subletting is also possible if you must break your lease. Subletting is finding someone to take over the lease on your behalf, until the end of the lease. Your landlord must agree to the sublet and the potential new tenant must pass the credit check.
Housing is a Human Right

In Ontario, the Human Rights Code applies to both tenants and landlords. Under the Human Rights Code, everyone has the right to equal treatment in housing without discrimination and harassment. Landlords must make sure housing environments follow the code.

People can’t be refused an apartment, harassed by a housing provider or other tenants, or otherwise treated unfairly because of

- race, colour or ethnic background
- religious beliefs or practices
- ancestry, including individuals of Aboriginal descent
- place of origin
- citizenship, including refugee status
- sex (including pregnancy and gender identity)
- family status
- marital status, including those with a same-sex partner
- disability
- sexual orientation
- age, including individuals who are 16 or 17 years old and no longer living with their parents
• receipt of social assistance (Ontario Works or Ontario Disability Support Program)

People are also protected if they face discrimination because they are a friend or relative of someone identified above.

When do Housing Rights Apply?

When you rent a unit you have the right to be treated without discrimination. The Housing Rights Code explains

- how to choose or evict tenants
- what the occupancy rules and regulations are
- how to handle repairs
- how to enjoy and use the unit, services and facilities

Examples of housing discrimination include when a landlord

- puts new immigrants and single mothers into older buildings and units that need fixing - because they wrongly think these groups are less responsible than other tenants
- refuses to move a growing family into more space
- refuses to rent to a recent immigrant family or requires a guarantor because they have no Canadian credit or landlord references
- requires all applicants to have at least 6 months of stable employment

If you feel you have been wrongly denied housing or are being harassed by your landlord contact:

1. The Hamilton Community Legal Clinic (905-527-4572), or
2. The Centre for Equality Rights in Accommodation (1-800-263-1139 ext.22)
Practices for Choosing Tenants Under the Human Rights Code

A regulation to the Human Rights Code sets out acceptable practices for choosing tenants. These include:

a. A landlord
   - can ask about your rental history and credit references
   - may ask to do a credit check

   Don’t worry if you don’t have a rental or credit history. This shouldn’t count against you.

b. A landlord can ask you about your income, but not by itself. They must also look at your
   - rental history
   - credit references
   - credit rating

c. Your income can only be
   - looked at on its own if there is no other information available
   - used to make sure you have enough money to pay the rent

d. A landlord shouldn’t refuse to rent to you because
   - they don’t think your income is high enough
   - you get social assistance

e. Landlords can ask for a “guarantor” to sign the lease. They can only do this if they ask all applicants. A guarantor is someone who promises to pay your rent if you can’t. Landlords can't ask for a “guarantor” just for you. They must ask everyone else who applies for a unit.

No other requirements may be used when choosing tenants. See the following website for more information. You may want to give it to a landlord you think is discriminating against you.

Tips for Apartment Hunting

When looking for a place to live

- know your rights
- bring a friend so you have a witness
- make a copy of any application you fill out
- write down the landlord’s name, telephone and address
- use the Hamilton Housing Help Centre and other community resources

The Ontario Human Rights Code says that you have the right to be free from harassment by

- the landlord
- an agent of the landlord
- an occupant of the same building

If one resident is harassing another, the landlord must do something to stop the harassment. If the landlord doesn't try to stop the harassment, they could face a human rights complaint.
